Market Summary

Exports of clean refined products from the Dangote refinery to Offshore Lome have ramped up in April, as differentials in the key ship-to-ship market soar amid the war in the Middle East. Some 83,600 metric tons of gasoline landed in the Offshore Lome market from Dangote in April, up from 65,800 mt in March and a six-month high for that route, data from S&P Global Commodities at Sea showed. After a slight dip on May 5th, the Naira strengthened significantly on May 6th, gaining roughly 0.67% in a single day. This move suggests improved liquidity or successful intervention in the official window. Comparing this to the end of April (where rates were hovering around ₦1,375 - ₦1,380), the current rate of 1,357.34 indicates a broader strengthening of the Naira over the last ten days.
